Message from Mayor Suzanne de Leon
“Balcones Heights Battles COVID-19 Parade”

On Friday, April 24, our council and I along with city staff, St. Gregory the Great Catholic School staff, residents and business leaders enjoyed taking part in a mini-parade. While so many of us in the San Antonio metropolitan area were disappointed that we were not celebrating the Battle of Flowers Parade, we are ALL, across the country, waging the battle of our lives right now, health-wise and commerce-wise - we are all fighting a battle. Across the region, across the state and across the country - America remains strong. And to illustrate that in our city, we all came out and proudly displayed our American flags - at City Hall, our fire department, and every one of our homes. Our parade route included driving by the Methodist Texsan Hospital to let them know how thankful we are for their hard work and dedication. We will win this battle. Our patriotism, our basic strength as proud American citizens will go a long way in winning this battle, and that is what this event was all about, cheering our basic American pride! Last month the American flag was placed in your monthly newsletter - join us in unification and proudly display that flag in your window. We will fight this battle together. We hope you enjoyed the parade - please enjoy some of the photos from the event.
CITY HALL UPDATE

As we head into yet another month of uncertainty, I want to assure everyone that City operations are being maintained to the fullest extent possible while fighting the COVID-19 pandemic. City staff continue to undergo temperature checks each day, and we conduct virtually all of our meetings via Zoom or conference call. Planning is underway to determine the best and safest way for Municipal Court to resume once the green light is given. We are also looking at an array of options that will soon allow City Council and other public meetings to safely take place at the Justice Center. Updates on those developments will be posted on the City’s web site and social media.

City Council has conducted several meetings including the unique outdoor meeting on April 20 when Mayor Suzanne de Leon and City Council members declared April 24 as “Balcones Heights Battles COVID-19 Day” and announced plans for a parade through the City. Typically, Fiesta’s Battle of Flowers Parade would have taken place April 24. Balcones Heights residents, and the many dedicated health-care professionals at Methodist Texsan Hospital were treated to the City’s own parade, complete with flag-waving residents, music, and a stream of fire engines, police cars and Council members and staff in their vehicles. It provided a much-needed respite from the stress we are all feeling as this battle continues.

As of this writing, several of our local businesses have opened. In addition to the local food establishments who have been offering drive-thru and take-out service, a number of retailers are attempting to cautiously reopen. They include Steinmart, Rico’s Diner, Pacoy Jewelers, Wonderland Deli, Hobby Lobby, Image Avenue Clothiers, Cowtown Boots, Burkes Outlet, Adrianas Casa de Novias, and Burlington. As operating hours and service options are subject to change without notice, it is impossible to list more details here. Calling or checking online before attempting to shop is the best way to know if a particular store is open and what its procedures are.

Staff is presently looking at how we can effectively manage our new budget projections as that process will be impacted by March and April retail closings and the resulting loss in sales tax. At this point, we are confident that with fiscal conservatism through the remainder of this budget year, sufficient reserve funds, and steadily improving sales tax projections will avoid any fiscal emergencies. We also have made plans to move forward with the Vivian Lane reconstruction project and the Babcock/Hillcrest Traffic Signal upgrade.

As always, please contact me or a member of City Council if you have any questions regarding City operations. Stay safe, and I hope to see you at a City Council meeting soon.

P.S. C-6 has just rescheduled Brush and Bulky item pickup for the week of May 25-29. Please pay close attention to the amount of brush you can put out as the quantity has changed. More information on page five (5).

Stay healthy and safe,

David Harris
City Administrator

At Methodist Hospital | Texsan, we’re committed to helping protect the health and safety of the Balcones Heights community. While we remain diligent in the fight against COVID-19, we know that people are facing other critical medical issues as well.

We also know that people are avoiding potentially life-saving care.

Researchers at health insurance company Cigna analyzed hospital admissions and found that many people with acute and emergency medical conditions are not going to the hospital. Nationally between February and March, the hospitalization rate related to atrial fibrillation decreased by 35 percent. Mini-strokes declined by 31 percent in the same timeframe. Double-digit declines were recorded in the rates of epileptic seizures, gastrointestinal bleeding, heart attacks and appendicitis.

We’ve seen indications of these national trends in our local hospitals. At Methodist Hospital | Texsan, for example, we’re seeing fewer patients coming to us for emergency services related to cardiac and stroke care than we normally see. The number of people experiencing these medical issues hasn’t changed, but the number of people we’re treating has.

This is dangerous for local residents. Delaying or avoiding critical medical care for medical emergencies, such as heart attacks, strokes or serious injuries, this can result in serious health complications and even death.

Many patients and their family members may be understandably anxious about visiting healthcare facilities during the COVID-19 pandemic. We want to assure our community that our clinicians, caregivers and support teams are committed to protecting our patients, colleagues and everyone who comes into our hospital.

Texsan has taken a number of precautions and put into place numerous new protections in order to help ensure our hospital continues to be the safest place possible to receive care. We have implemented health and safety standards over and above the recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. These precautions include limiting entry into our hospitals and implementing enhanced screening processes for patients, visitors and clinical teams. Texsan has implemented a universal masking policy. ALL staff and providers in ALL patient care areas now wear masks, not just those caring for suspected or positive COVID cases. These universal protections help to set a new standard that promotes patient safety and confidence across all sites of care. These protections, coupled with our longstanding precautions and safety measures, support our commitment to lead with safety first.

Texsan is dedicated to providing Balcones Heights with outstanding care and encourages all residents to seek care promptly if they believe they or a loved one may be experiencing a medical emergency. We want our community to stay healthy, and we’re taking measures to be there to provide the care our residents need and ensure they receive it in a safe and caring environment at Texsan. Concern about the pandemic is on all our minds. But such concerns shouldn’t keep us from seeking potentially life-saving care.

Your phone is a medical device. By calling a doctor, a hospital or 9-1-1 – you are beginning the medical process that can deliver life-saving care. In those instances, minutes matter.

STREET REPAIR UPDATE

The COVID-19 pandemic has certainly modified many things within our homes, businesses and community, but life is going on and city staff are still providing services to the public and maintaining our infrastructure. The 2020 Vivian Lane street reconstruction project was temporarily postponed to allow council and staff to plan for the fiscal impacts of the pandemic. The City of Balcones Heights annually adopts a very conservative budget and the council has worked diligently to ensure months of operating capital be held in reserve in the event of a major economic downturn. Through these conservative best practices, the City is still financially strong and we are prepared to keep moving forward with infrastructure projects.

The reconstruction of Vivian Lane street project will begin soon. Residents of Vivian Lane who have not returned their Access Agreement letters to Engineer Roger Lawhead at Slay Engineering - 123 Altgelt or Janet Thelen Director of Community Development at the Justice Center are asked to do so as soon as possible. We understand major street reconstructions are an inconvenience, but replacing aging water, sewer and gas lines, providing new ADA accessible sidewalks and a street free of potholes and sunken places is a fair trade-off for a few months of inconvenience.

The warm days of summer is the perfect time for infrastructure repairs. Hillcrest Drive is more than ready for reconstruction. This summer a few of sections of roadway that are causing drivers to dodge holes and depressions will be patched. The city will apply for grant funding this fall for the total reconstruction of Hillcrest Drive, but reconstruction will be several years into the future. Grant funding is never a guarantee, but staff is working closely with the city engineer to develop a strong grant application. In the meantime, we will take a conservative approach to keep the road drivable and safe for motorists with the calculated patching. Several other streets in Balcones Heights that need minor curb repairs and street patching are on the agenda for this summer.

The planning required for upgrades to the traffic signal at Hillcrest Drive and Babcock Road is completed. Repairs will begin soon. There will be lane closures as workers replace underground wiring and the pedestrian crossing signals. The signals over the roadway are not slated for replacement during this upgrade. Replacing the signal controller should prevent the signal equipment dropping into the default all-way flashing red because the hardware driving the signal operations is malfunctioning due to age. These upgrades will enhance driver and pedestrian safety, move traffic more efficiently, which in turn reduces idling times and lowers vehicle emissions. As always, please drive safely when workers are present and watch for workers and equipment in the construction zones.

Please check the Balcones Heights website – www.bhtx.gov and the City of Balcones Heights Facebook page for daily information regarding lane closures and construction zones as related to these projects. For additional information contact Janet Thelen at jthelen@bhtx.gov or (210) 957-3545.

THROW DISPOSABLE GLOVES AND MASKS IN TRASH CAN - NOT THE TOILET

COVID-19 has had a slew of impacts on our environment – from decreases in vehicular emissions to wildlife roaming around our most urban areas. We’re continuing to monitor and see changes like these in the Texas environment too. Unfortunately, not all of these COVID-19 changes have been for the best. Some of these changes include misusing the toilet as a trash can, and a growing trend of masks being improperly disposed of and ending up in our waterways.

Masks and gloves are being flushed into our sewage systems or being thrown out and collecting in our city water treatment cycles and natural waterways. The Texas Commission on Environmental Quality through its Take Care of Texas program is partnering with Water Environment Association of Texas (WEAT) to promote the proper disposal of masks, gloves and other items that don’t belong in pipes. Balcones Heights Jazz Festival Postponed

The 27th Annual Balcones Heights Jazz Festival, original slated for four Friday nights in July, has been postponed indefinitely due to the COVID-19/novel coronavirus pandemic and continued uncertainty of public events in months ahead.

City officials say the concert series, which typically attracts more than 3,000 jazz lovers to each of the concerts held at Wonderland of the Americas’ hillside amphitheater, will be rescheduled.

Mayor Suzanne de Leon - while disappointed with the postponement - is optimistic that when the event does indeed take place, it will be bigger and better than ever. “Public safety, social distancing and the ongoing questions, make postponing our only real option.”

Lorenzo Nastasi, Balcones Heights Director of Economic Development and Public Affairs explains that beyond public health and safety concerns, there is also the dollars and cents of attempting to maintain the original July festival dates.

“Atting to the uncertainty of the pandemic and its unknown duration, is the question of artist contracts, travel arrangements, sponsorships, and a host of other logistical and production details that are impossible to put on hold until the last minute,” Nastasi explained.

City officials are confident that the festival will resume, perhaps with some changes, as soon as it is feasible.

May 10-16 - National Police Week

Honoring police officers was first recognized in 1962 when President John F. Kennedy signed a proclamation designating May 15 as Peace Officers Memorial Day and the week in which that date falls as Police Week.

Police officers throughout our communities are dedicated to protecting and serving neighborhoods, schools, and families - these brave men and women in uniform put everything on the line to protect us.

During Police Week we recognize the officers for their hard work and dedication as well as remembering those officers that we have lost and extend our deepest condolences to their loved ones.

Thank you Balcones Heights Police Officers!

National Public Works Week is May 17-23
